Menéndez Pelayo University

The Universidad Internacional Menéndez Pelayo (UIMP) is the on-site university institution run by the Ministry of Education, Culture and Sports specialising in teaching Spanish.

Founded in 1932 and designed as a high-culture institution, every year academics, scientists, politicians, creators and other renowned national and international professionals from all areas of knowledge are invited to teach in Santander at the La Magdalena Palace, Las Llamas Campus and different sites across Spain. The main headquarters is located in Santander at Las Llamas Campus (Avenida de los Castros, 42). It is the permanent site of our Spanish courses throughout the year.

In addition to the Spanish courses, La Magdalena Palace also plays host to lifelong professional training in the summer session. Students enjoy open access to a wide international selection of courses, supplemented by a busy and excellent programme of cultural activities.

Why study Spanish at the UIMP?

Academic Excellence

We are renowned for our Spanish courses and a teaching body who are selected from the best Spanish and overseas universities. All our programmes, levels and accreditations are in line with the European Common Framework of Reference for Languages. Students from over 50 countries and top international institutions choose the UIMP to refresh their Spanish training.

Cultural Excellence

The excellent academic selection is complemented by free, open access to a varied programme of Cultural Activities organised by the UIMP. In step with the city's own cultural activities (International Festival of Santander, summer programme, etc.), Santander transforms into one of the benchmarks for high culture during the summer season.

Unique Setting

Located on the Cantabrian coast, Santander is home to one of the most beautiful bays in Europe. It is the capital of the region of Cantabria - one of the top tourist destinations in Spain thanks to its rich nature and landscapes combining sea and mountain settings within just a few kilometres. The area is home to highly diverse ecosystems, delicious cuisine and lots of sports and leisure activities for all kinds of visitors.

GROUPS

If you represent an overseas university, institution, company or agency and would like to arrange a training programme with the UIMP that adapts to the requirements of your group, we offer three different possibilities in Santander and at other UIMP campuses:

- 1. Incorporating your group onto scheduled courses.
- 2. Programming one of our designed courses on dates that suit your group.
- 3. Designing a specific training programme for your university, institution or company that matches your requirements.
